Nona's diary. REV. ROSE ENTERS.)

REV. ROSE

Just came by to check on you. How are you doing, Ariana?

ARIANA

Her last diary entry was over a year ago.

REV. ROSE

That was before she decided to write something special for our Christmas Eve service.

ARIANA

I had no idea that she was watching over me all these years. I feel awful. I'm so confused.

ARIANA

Where will I hear this voice?

REV. ROSE

It will be like a thought in your mind but it's very soft because it comes from your heart.

ARIANA

Oh. Does it have a name?

REV. ROSE

It has many names. Sometimes it's called the voice of the Holy Spirit, or the Christ self or the Buddha self ... and more recently it's been referred to as the God or even Goddess self. It doesn't matter what you call it. It's just a name to remind us that we are all connected.

ARIANA

Connected to what?

REV. ROSE

To God, the universe ... our Higher Love. We are also connected to each other ... the plants ... the animals and even the angels and those who are on the other side. You know, omnipresent ... everywhere. You see Ariana, some of us believe that we are all one.

ARIANA

Wow. I hadn't thought about that before. Does that mean we can connect with each other?

REV. ROSE

Yes. Sometimes we're in communion with the universe or the angels and sometimes we are visited by friends or family members who have crossed over and are watching over us.

ARIANA

How will I know, if I'm connected with the universe or my guardian angel?

REV. ROSE

You'll know. It speaks only love. It'll be truthful, uplifting and kind ... and feel so amazing. It will never be judgmental of you or anyone else ... or ever tell you to hurt another ... or any living thing for that matter.

ARIANA

Well, I guess I never knew there were so many different kinds of doors to explore.

(ARIANA holds up another key.)

ARIANA (CONTINUES)

I found another key in the back of her diary. I gotta go to her house ... to get some more answers.

REV. ROSE

Good luck and take care. I'm here if you need me.

ARIANA

Thanks, Rev. Rose. Catch you later.

(ARIANA EXITS.)

(LIGHTS FADE - End of scene)
